saudi arabia and bahrain remain key partners for the uk but relations are complicated by the differences between our societies and the pressing need for reform in the gulf historic warm relations between the uk government and the leaders of saudi arabia and bahrain are not mirrored in public opinion in saudi arabia and the uk and the uk s reputation in bahrain has also suffered since 2011 the government must make its public profile and reputation a more central part of its work in the gulf consider how it can best support much needed economic and political reforms and how it can explain its policies and point to specific achievements when speaking to the public at home and in the gulf in saudi arabia the government must convert its promising steps so far in providing assistance on legal and judicial reform into solid and reportable programmes in bahrain it must work to secure access for ngos and the un special rapporteur on torture and press more strongly for swifter implementation of reforms saudi arabia s role as a key buyer for the uk defence industry is controversial but the report finds little to suggest that ending defence sales from the uk would have any positive effect the aggressive way in which the bahraini security forces handled events in 2011 has deeply damaged bahrain s reputation the recommendations of the bahrain independent commission of inquiry bici were sensible and the bahraini government s failure fully to implement them is inexplicable
